INTRODUCTION

This General Index, covering Volumes 91–120 (1971–2000), is the third to be published in the 127-year history of The Observatory Magazine; earlier general indices were compiled for Volumes 1–75 and 76–90 by Mr. E. G. Martin (retired from the Royal Greenwich Observatory) and published in 1959 and 1975, respectively. Thus this is the first to be produced without the embrace of the Royal Observatory, where, of course, the Magazine was founded in 1877. The previous general indices each carried a very brief résumé of the Magazine's history, but that luxury has been dispensed with on this occasion since a full account is now available elsewhere¹.

The approach to this General Index has been somewhat different from that undoubtedly taken by Mr. Martin; we now have at our disposal a range of technological facilities scarcely imaginable just 30 years ago. This led us to adopt the (as it turned out, rather fanciful) notion of simply merging the 30 years of annual indices — utilizing the last few years' indices, which were available directly on-line, and scanning in the earlier ones. This task was bravely undertaken by Robert Argyle who thus committed himself to hours of tedium at the computer terminal. Of course, the principal problem has been the oft-mentioned “editorial kaleidoscope”, which has led to a succession of annual-index compilers each taking a subtly different view as to what should be included and what omitted, especially with respect to the Subject Index, although it is also fair to remember that astronomy is very prone to fashion, rendering the ‘hot’ topics of the 1970s somewhat ‘old hat’ by the 1990s. Notwithstanding these difficulties, three merged indices were ultimately produced, yielding a draft General Index resembling in format the familiar annual indices. At that point Mr. Argyle was allowed to take a well-earned rest!

The next task was to check all entries against what actually appeared in the Magazine, and to ensure some measure of consistency across the years. This I undertook, taking the bound volumes of The Observatory as my constant companion for several months. Completing the Review Index turned out to be a fairly straightforward exercise since the book reviews constitute a reasonably self-contained section of the publication. The only departures from some of the earlier annual indices have been to relegate correspondence relating to reviews to the Subject Index (although retaining cross references), to list all announcements of paperback publications of books previously reviewed as hardbacks, and generally to restrict the credited authorship of a few of the more recent historical works to the original authors, expunging reference to translators and editors.

The Author Index proved only slightly more troublesome, mainly in the arena of meeting reports: where a paper was presented by one person on behalf of one or more others (perhaps including the speaker), only the speaker is included in the index. In the case of speakers at RAS Ordinary (A & G) meetings who did not provide a summary (and for whom no extensive summary was provided by the Editors), I have been forgiving and they are generally included in the list of authors, particularly where there is reported some worthwhile debate after the talk. However, I have not been as kind as the compiler of the annual index for 1973 who generously included in the list of authors those who had merely asked questions at RAS meetings; they have been expunged!

The Subject Index was an altogether different story. Here categories came and went with time, and so did what was worthy of inclusion (e.g., the RAS President's mention of deceased Fellows and Associates as an entry under ‘Obituary Notices’ — deemed by me not to be); and, of course, every indexer's problem of under which and in just how many categories to list a multi-faceted paper. Naturally, regular features, such as Correspondence, Notes from Observatories, and recently Thesis Abstracts, have all their contributions listed there and also under a heading appropriate to their subject matter (albeit ‘Miscellaneous’ in quite a few cases, primarily to avoid an excessive number of categories with very few entries).

Notes were for many years to be found towards the back of each issue as a repository for all manner of news items, personal notes, obituary notices, etc., etc. The last of these (in the period covered by this General Index) appeared in 1983, probably as a result of more expeditious methods of communicating such information. However, an experimental reintroduction of Notes featured in the first issue of 2004, offering a ‘stop press’-type opportunity for the inclusion of late-breaking news.

Papers are listed under the category of their main topic, e.g., ‘Galaxies’, and perhaps under another, e.g., ‘Radio Astronomy’, if deemed appropriate. Because of the strong bias of contributions in The Observatory towards stellar astronomy, several categories relating to ‘stars’ appear, and readers should hunt among all of them for items of interest. Perhaps an ‘Object Index’ would have been useful but we have (lazily perhaps) shied away from that undertaking. As an aid in seeking out the most suitable categories in which to begin a search, a list of categories is given ahead of the Subject Index. Note that several sub-categories have been grouped under ‘Astrophysics’, the intention being to gather together a number of rather general (particularly theory-based) items.

In a similar way, a number of sub-categories are collected under the banner of the Royal Astronomical Society, with which the Magazine has had such a long association. All of the Ordinary Meetings in London have been reported in the Magazine together with those that have occurred ‘out of town’ in recent years as part of the National Astronomy Meetings. Quite a number of the RAS Specialist Discussion Meetings have also been recorded, although some reports now appear in Astronomy & Geophysics, the RAS’s ‘house’ journal. The form these reports has taken has changed across the years, from narrative records through collections of abstracts to summaries produced by the meeting organizers. As a result, the way that individual contributions have been included in this Index has also changed: only where those contributions were easily identifiable have they been listed. The same is true of the reports of other meetings, especially of the Herstmonceux Conferences.

Finally, with an eye to the future, when readers may wish to consult past copies of The Observatory for research purposes, especially research of an historical nature, we have provided a list of acronyms and abbreviations appearing in the Magazine during the time span covered by this Index; the probable issue when the term first appeared is also given. Its compilation has not been easy, as often, particularly in meeting reports, they have not always been defined on first use. And yet their proliferation, especially in connection with instrumentation and space astronomy, has been widespread. Thanks are due to several authors who were contacted by email and invited to dredge their deepest memories for acronyms they used many years ago; and also to Professor Ian Howarth and Dr. Paul O’Brien, who both (having been Editors) searched their memories too in this good cause. Even so, one or two have escaped definition and are marked by ‘(?)’. (One or two more, being defined in a particular paper and only used there, have been omitted.) This list also includes a few names which have been presented in the Magazine in capital letters but which appear not to be acronyms.

In the same vein, a list of bibliographic abbreviations has also been included for the benefit of those unfamiliar with the terse — but very convenient — forms used in journal references for many years by this Magazine (and, more recently, by other journals).

Following the completion of this second draft of the General Index, the third member of the present editorial team, Stephen Fossey, has been turned loose to use his eye for detail to ensure a good measure of consistency throughout and to check for those errors that are all too easy to overlook when being too close to the subject for too long. He is also the man to make it available electronically on the Magazine's web site (<http://www.uio.ucl.ac.uk/obsmag/>). Thus the present work is very much a team effort.

Finally, the Editors want to thank the Royal Astronomical Society for partial financial support for this venture. — DAVID STICKLAND.
